A List of All Known Children of the 1885 North-West Resistance

Name of Child (age in 1885)	Date of Birth	Father's Name (age in 1885)	Mother's Name (age in 1885)
Older Sons and Daughters *
Letendré dit Batoché, Marie	14 July 1824	Letendré dit Batoché, Louison (deceased)	Hallett, Marie-Julie (80) - a widow
Letendré dit Batoché, Marguerite	1827	Letendré dit Batoché, Louison (deceased)	Hallett, Marie-Julie (80) - a widow
Ouellette, Isidore	1830	Ouellette, Joseph "José" (93)	Houle, Thérèse "Thirse" Elizabeth (77)

* Many of the adult sons (and daughters) of the Exovedes and other Métis families which were involved in the 1885 North-West Resistance are not reckoned amongst the patriotic defenders of the realm. There is no comment or explanation for this. Although they would have been old enough to participate as Resistance Activists, they are not listed among the Patriots or Dominion Sympathizers... some were no doubt left at home to fend for the families of the fighting men, many of which were conscripted to fight against their will. Others no doubt hid themselves when the Métis Provisional Army came collecting conscripts. These are in strong contrast to the child-soldiers.

Oftimes mentioned are older single women which, although adults, are considered children insomuch as they were dependant upon their paternal families - these are the Daughters of the Resistance.

* He was considered by some of his contemporaries to be temperamentally unsuited for dealing with the large and restive Indian and Métis population of his district. He was actively disliked by many, and was even suspected of hoping to speculate profitably in the Métis land scrip which would be distributed by the government if his efforts were successful. Indeed, it was widely held in the territories that his rash behaviour was partly responsible for the outbreak of rebellion in 1885.
